(\textbf{New York}) \textbf{November 5, 2019} – Boost your dance skills at \textit{Ailey Extension} this November with specialized workshops and new classes led by Ailey’s extended family of movement experts. Dancers of all experience levels will have several chances throughout the month to train with the esteemed choreographers and trainers helping Ailey dancers prepare for the upcoming holiday season engagement at New York City Center. This month’s workshops allow dancers to receive hands-on modern dance coaching with \textit{Ailey Rehearsal Director Matthew Rushing}; learn a spiritually refreshing mix of modern and African dance from celebrated \textbf{Choreographer Ronald K. Brown}, whose work remains part of Ailey’s current repertory; and build endurance fit for a dancer with \textbf{Master Trainer Steven Lopez}, who trains his Ailey dancer wife Constance Stamatiou between performance seasons. With new workshops, classes, and promotional deals, students have a wider range of opportunities to sharpen their dance skills.

Dancers can explore new techniques and build their skills during any of three new weekly classes. Afro-Cuban Dancer Liethis Hechavarria – daughter of Ailey Extension’s crowd-pleasing Afro-Cuban Folklore Instructor LA MORA – will teach the history, shines and styles of \textit{Rumba} accompanied by live drums; National Samba Star Danielle Lima will help students of all levels refine their skills in an \textbf{Open Samba/Afro-Brazilian} class; and Master Teacher Kim D. Holmes will bring out the best of each student in a high energy \textbf{Beginner Street Jazz} class.

This month, Ailey Extension will continue to show gratitude by introducing discounted rates on weekly classes to our armed forces. Starting Tuesday, November 11 and continuing indefinitely, all veterans and active-duty military personnel can purchase a single class for $18.50 (regularly $22), a 5-class card for $90 (regularly $95), or 10-class card for $175 (regularly $180), or 20-class card for $320 (regularly $340).
The Ailey family also welcomes all to bring a buddy to enjoy a “fun and easy to do” post-Thanksgiving dance workout set to Latin and international music during Friendsgiving Zumba® with Sonny Ortiz. This year’s Black Friday promotion allows dance to apply the BuddyPass package – a $40 for two students deal typically reserved for weekly classes – to the Friendsgiving Zumba® workshop when they register in-person with a friend. Throughout November students can also drop-in on recurring workshops Afro Flow Yoga with Gina Onayiga, Move Your Curves with Pretty BIG Movement, and Doun Doun Dance with Maguette Camara.

Each new class and workshop present an additional opportunity for novice and professional dancers alike to explore new dance styles, refine their technique, and connect with others in the NYC dance community while being taught by the city’s top instructors at the Joan Weill Center for Dance – home of the world-renowned Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater, Ailey II, and The Ailey School.
