

City Views: Taking the stage with The Next Generation of Dance

March 11, 2019

NEW YORK (1010 WINS) -- The Next Generation of Dance will take the stage this week at NYU Skirball, continuing a 60-year legacy.

Among the new and returning performances dancers will perform will be Ailey II artistic director Troy Powell's first work since taking the job, called 'Ebb and Flow.' The emotional duet is set to Samuel Barber's 'Adagio for Strings.'

Ailey II is a dance company known for merging the spirit and energy of the country's best you dance talent with the passion and vision of emerging choreographers.

Powell and dancer Alisha Peek discussed the event with 1010 WINS Sharon Barnes-Waters on a recent episode of "City Views."

Watch here: <https://1010wins.radio.com/articles/city-views-taking-stage-next-generation-dance> (20 minutes)

Listen here: <https://cision.criticalmention.com/app/#/clip/slim/2d4faa1e-cbfe-4008-8a6f-65c5b4206984?width=404&height=272> and <https://cision.criticalmention.com/app/#/clip/public/d2f5ab23-41ad-4e8b-b983-5918d2a73c95>