

state of the arts

This week on State of the Arts
May 30, 2015

This time on State of the Arts, The Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater's deep connection to Newark. We talk with Artistic Director Robert Battle, and see their special Mother's Day performance at NJPAC.

The Alvin Ailey American Dance Theater has made NJPAC its second home. Molten glass airplanes and installations made with old bottles - artists explore ideas in a new show at Wheaton Arts. A photographer adds to her collection of deeply-personal self-portraits. And find out why New Jersey is the Poetry State.

Watch Here:

<https://vimeo.com/128158915>